

TRI-CITY WORDSMITHS

presents

MAKING A LIVING WRITING BOOKS

Can you make a living writing without losing the love for it?

with indie author

MARIE MACKAY

Marie is a British-Canadian writer, artist, and former nurse currently living in Port Moody. She is a self-proclaimed angst queen and writes omegaverse and fantasy romance. The voices she brings to the paper draw from the distinct social settings in which she has lived, the many places she has travelled, and from her time in health care.

SATURDAY, APR 6
1:30 - 4:00 PM

Marie will discuss some of the biggest topics that come up in writing and business, as well as address some misconceptions (e.g. Do we need to be on TikTok? How useful is a newsletter?) This chat is about hustle, passion, and finding your balance with creative sacrifices when your art becomes your income.

IN PERSON AND ON ZOOM
Registration required for both:
tri.city.wordsmiths@gmail.com

Fraser Valley Regional Library upholds the principle of freedom of expression and supports the rights of individuals to read, speak, view, and exchange differing perspectives. The library facilitates a variety of programs; this does not imply endorsement or sanction of any of the views expressed by presenters.

Terry Fox Library
2150 Wilson Ave, Port Coquitlam | 604-927-7999
Read. Learn. Play. | www.fvr.ca

